

● Understand Your Economic Impact

Don't just track and report your diverse spend—show your organization's real local and economic impacts.

Economic impact reporting shows your program's real-world influence on the communities you serve.

Stop Reporting. Start Changing.

Tracking and reporting your diversity spend is a great place to start, but your stakeholders want more.

Show your stakeholders exactly how your business activities support job creation, see the regions your activities are influencing the most, and understand which business categories create the most impact.

Easy To Read Dashboards

Understand how your program supports job creation, the local economy, and which business categories create the most impact.

Customizable Reports

Easily share your success with customizable, print-ready reports. Choose images and report content that's relevant to your audience.
