Implementing a thorough, proactive emergency preparedness strategy can make a significant difference in the days that follow a natural disaster. From hurricanes and tornadoes to fires, floods, earthquakes, and more, being prepared means ensuring the safety of students, faculty, and staff while limiting disruptions in operations.

E&I suppliers can help by offering products and solutions to ensure your institution is well prepared and ready to respond to a range of emergencies.

Visit our website at www.eandi.org/emergency-preparedness for a complete overview of the contracts and services listed in this brochure. For more information, contact your E&I Member Representative.
