

Get the Apple Products & Support You Need – Through the E&I CDW-G Contract

Apple has changed their direct procurement process and, in many cases, is no longer accepting purchase orders (POs) or new direct eProcurement integrations.

But don't worry—we have you covered. CDW-G will customize a solution that works for your higher education institution, including PO processing, credit cards, and purchasing on our VERVE eProcurement as a service platform, through the E&I CDW-G contract.

As Apple's #1 channel partner, in addition to the procurement flexibility you depend on, CDW-G brings a wealth of benefits to your Apple environment:

- Only reseller to stock Apple products, with two distribution and configuration centers
- Custom Apple models in-stock and ready to ship the next business day
- Aggressive discounts through the E&I CDW-G contract with leasing options and potential buyback programs
- Apple School Manager portal integration and mobile device management (MDM) solutions allow you to easily purchase in volume
- Configuration services including asset tagging, laser etching, and custom packaging with accessories and third-party products
- Customized logistics including residential shipping for faculty, staff, and student programs, palletization, buy and hold inventory options, and robust reporting capabilities
- Local service integrators handle onsite unboxing, trash removal, and asset disposition
- Partnerships with diverse businesses and Apple to help achieve your supplier diversity objectives
- Apple experts provide the support you need before, during, and after your purchase
