

Construction Procurement Made Easy With Gordian's ezIQC®

Introducing ezIQC® from Gordian, an indefinite delivery indefinite quantity (IDIQ) procurement process that allows E&I members to execute repairs, renovations, and new construction through a single competitively solicited contract.

Unlike traditional construction bidding, when each project must be identified, designed, and put out to bid, ezIQC® is made available through cooperative purchasing networks that have already satisfied the competitive process. Not only does your institution save time by avoiding individual bids, but you will also save money because contractors are bidding on a series of project opportunities.

With Gordian's full line of JOC construction procurement solutions – including change order management and MRO – all covered in this competitively solicited contract, ezIQC® is another great service to have in this comprehensive toolbox.
