To all our partners across the country,

As a company, we at Southwest Contract extend our thoughts and prayers to you, as well as to all institutional personnel and students on your campus. These are times of great uncertainty and we don’t know what tomorrow holds. However, we want you to know that we are working diligently to keep every commitment made and deliver on our promise of providing quality service.

Our factories are closely monitoring information and activities concerning COVID-19. We are adjusting to reports, recommendations, and guidelines published by our federal and state government, The World Health Organization (WHO), The Center for Disease Control (CDC), and Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA).

Corporately we are taking the necessary steps to keep our employees, our families, and our partners safe, but at the same time attempting to enhance the environment in which our personnel live, learn, heal, and work.

Our personal contact with our partners is limited but our energy is not. Please know that we value you and we are here to assist. Our doors remain open and our factories are operational.

A significant portion of our backlog is manufactured and stored in warehouses. We continue to build around 700 units per day and have over 50,000 units manufactured awaiting shipment.

Our most difficult times as a country have often brought out the best in us through demonstrating our empathy, our kindness, our solidarity, and our strength. By working together and solving unique challenges in ways we never could have imagined, we become better, smarter, and safer.

Blessings to all.
